A Change To Note

Beginning in 2000, new rules apply to determine who is a foster child for purposes of the earned income credit (EIC). See page 3 for details.

Purpose

Use Form W-5 if you are eligible to get part of the EIC in advance with your pay and choose to do so. See Who Is Eligible To Get Advance EIC Payments? below. The amount you can get in advance generally depends on your wages. If you are married, the amount of your advance EIC payments also depends on whether your spouse has filed a Form W-5 with his or her employer. However, your employer cannot give you more than $1,412 throughout 2000 with your pay. You will get the rest of any EIC you are entitled to when you file your tax return and claim the EIC.

If you do not choose to get advance payments, you can still claim the EIC on your 2000 tax return.

What Is the EIC?

The EIC is a credit for certain workers. It reduces the tax you owe. It may give you a refund even if you do not owe any tax.

Who Is Eligible To Get Advance EIC Payments?

You are eligible to get advance EIC payments if all three of the following apply.

1. You expect to have at least one qualifying child. If you do not expect to have a qualifying child, you may still be eligible for the EIC, but you cannot receive advance EIC payments. See Who Is a Qualifying Child? on page 2.

2. You expect that your 2000 earned income and modified AGI (adjusted gross income) will each be less than $27,413. Include your spouse's income if you plan to file a joint return. As used on this form, earned income does not include amounts inmates in penal institutions are paid for their work or workfare payments (defined on this page). For most people, modified AGI is the total of adjusted gross income plus any tax-exempt interest. But see the 1999 revision of Pub. 596, Earned Income Credit, for information about how to figure your 2000 modified AGI if you expect to receive nontaxable payments from a pension, annuity, or an IRA; or you plan to file a 2000 Form 1040.

3. You expect to be able to claim the EIC for 2000. To find out if you may be able to claim the EIC, answer the questions on page 2.

Workfare payments. These are cash payments certain people receive from a state or local agency that administers public assistance programs funded under the Federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) program in return for certain work activities such as (1) work experience activities (including work associated with remodeling or repairing publicly assisted housing) if sufficient private sector employment is not available, or (2) community service program activities.

How To Get Advance EIC Payments

If you are eligible to get advance EIC payments, fill in the 2000 Form W-5 at the bottom of this page. Then, detach it and give it to your employer. If you get advance payments, you must file a 2000 Federal income tax return.

You may have only one Form W-5 in effect at one time. If you and your spouse are both employed, you should file separate Forms W-5.

Questions To See if You May Be Able To Claim the EIC for 2000

 You cannot claim the EIC if you plan to file either Form 2555 or Form 2555-EZ (relating to foreign earned income) for 2000. You also cannot claim the EIC if you are a nonresident alien for any part of 2000 unless you are married to a U.S. citizen or resident and elect to be taxed as a resident alien for all of 2000.

- 1 Do you expect to have a qualifying child? Read Who Is a Qualifying Child? that starts below before you answer this question. If the child is married, be sure you also read Married child on page 3.

- No.  You may be able to claim the EIC but you cannot get advance EIC payments.
- Yes. Continue.

 If the child meets the conditions to be a qualifying child for both you and another person, you can treat the child as your qualifying child only if you expect your 2000 modified AGI to be higher than the other person's modified AGI. If the other person is your spouse and you expect to file a joint return for 2000, this rule does not apply.

- 2 Do you expect your 2000 filing status to be married filing a separate return?

- Yes.  You cannot claim the EIC.
- No. Continue.

 If you expect to file a joint return for 2000, include your spouse's income when answering questions 3 and 4.

- 3 Do you expect that your 2000 earned income and modified AGI (see page 1) will each be less than: $27,413 if you expect to have 1 qualifying child; $31,152 if you expect to have 2 or more qualifying children?

- No.  You cannot claim the EIC.
- Yes. Continue. But remember, you cannot get advance EIC payments if you expect your 2000 earned income or modified AGI will be $27,413 or more.

- 4 Do you expect that your 2000 investment income will be more than $2,400? For most people, investment income is the total of their taxable interest and dividends and tax-exempt interest. However, if you plan to file a 2000 Form 1040, see the 1999 Form 1040 instructions to figure your investment income.

- Yes.  You cannot claim the EIC.
- No. Continue.

- 5 Do you expect that you, or your spouse if filing a joint return, will be a qualifying child of another person for 2000?

- No. You may be able to claim the EIC.
- Yes. You cannot claim the EIC.

This Form W-5 expires on December 31, 2000. If you are eligible to get advance EIC payments for 2001, you must file a new Form W-5 next year.

 You may be able to get a larger credit when you file your 2000 return. For details, see Additional Credit on page 3.

Who Is a Qualifying Child?

Any child who meets all three of the following conditions is a qualifying child.

1. The child is your son, daughter, adopted child, grandchild, stepchild, or foster child.

Note: An adopted child includes a child placed with you by an authorized placement agency for legal adoption even if the adoption is not final. A grandchild is any descendant of your son, daughter, or adopted child. A foster child is any child you cared for as your own child and who is (1) your brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, (2) a descendant (such as a child including an adopted child) of your brother, sister, stepbrother, or stepsister, or (3) a child placed with you by an authorized placement agency.

2. The child is under age 19 at the end of 2000, or under age 24 at the end of 2000 and a full-time student, or any age at the end of 2000 and permanently and totally disabled.

3. The child lives with you in the United States for over half of 2000 or, if a foster child, for all of 2000. If the child does not live with you for the required time because the child was born or died in 2000, the child is considered to have lived with you for all of 2000 if your home was the child's home for the entire time he or she was alive in 2000.

Note: Temporary absences such as for school, medical care, or vacation count as time lived at home. Members of the military on extended active duty outside the United States are considered to be living in the United States.

Married child. If the child is married at the end of 2000, that child is a qualifying child only if you may claim him or her as your dependent, or the following Exception applies to you.

Exception. You are the custodial parent and would be able to claim the child as your dependent, but the noncustodial parent claims the child as a dependent because—

1. You signed Form 8332, Release of Claim to Exemption for Child of Divorced or Separated Parents, or a similar statement, agreeing not to claim the child for 2000, or

2. You have a pre-1985 divorce decree or separation agreement that allows the noncustodial parent to claim the child and he or she gives at least $600 for the child's support in 2000.

Qualifying child of more than one person. If the child meets the conditions to be a qualifying child of more than one person, only the person with the highest modified AGI for 2000 may treat that child as a qualifying child. If the other person is your spouse and you plan to file a joint return for 2000, this rule does not apply.

Reminder. A qualifying child must have a social security number unless he or she was born and died in 2000.

What if My Situation Changes?

If your situation changes after you give Form W-5 to your employer, you will probably need to file a new Form W-5. For example, you must file a new Form W-5 if any of the following applies for 2000.

- You no longer expect to have a qualifying child. Check "No" on line 2 of your new Form W-5.
- You no longer expect to be able to claim the EIC for 2000. Check "No" on line 1 of your new Form W-5.
- You no longer want advance payments. Check "No" on line 1 of your new Form W-5.
- Your spouse files Form W-5 with his or her employer. Check "Yes" on line 4 of your new Form W-5.

Note: If you get the EIC with your pay and find you are not eligible, you must pay it back when you file your 2000 Federal income tax return.

Additional Information

How To Claim the EIC

If you are eligible, claim the EIC on your 2000 tax return. See your 2000 tax return instruction booklet.

Additional Credit

You may be able to claim a larger credit when you file your 2000 tax return because your employer cannot give you more than $1,412 of the EIC throughout the year with your pay. You may also be able to claim a larger credit if you have more than one qualifying child. But you must file your 2000 tax return to claim any additional credit.
